

VICTOR42

PROFESSIONAL BIOGRAPHY

Mark is President & CEO of VICTOR42 a Service Disabled Veteran Owned Small Business (SDVOSB) IT, Intel and Management Consulting Services firm based in Washington DC.

Mark has built a highly successful 25+-year career that includes his positions as CEO/President, COO, and EVP in the private sector as well as Senior Consultant for government contracting corporations, Chief of Staff for the Office of Personnel Management, and Advisor in The White House during the Clinton Administration. He is an entrepreneurial executive with a year-over-year record of exceptional results for core organizational goals, including business and revenue growth, staff development, operations reengineering, and profitability.

Mark has enjoyed a productive career over the years, but feels like he is just getting started and has great plans for VICTOR42. He is a trusted, knowledgeable, and dedicated executive leader who can take organizations to the next level of success – and keep them there for the foreseeable future. His experience, skills, and abilities are broad and transferable to any number of private, public, or non-profit organizations.